raised at $00 some time ago.

Thursday afternoon Detectives Hanley and Wade saw Mendel on the Boxcery, and, having heard of several robberies that were perpetrated according to the methods formerly employed by the willy thief, arrested him on suspicion.

At Headquarters yesterday Mr. Kein identified him as the person who called ut his store several days ago and represented himself to be L. Fisher, a member of the well-known jewelry firm of that name, of Chastanooga, Tenn.

He asked to see some jewelry, and picked a quantity valued at about $1,000, which he had laid aside. Next day "Mr. Fisher" called and examined some more jewelry. When the goods were put aside he felt in his pocket and discovered that he had left his check book at the Continental Hotel, and begged to be excused for a half hour.

A few moments after "Fisher's" departure the firm discovered the loss of the diamond ring. Fisher did not return and the matter was reported to inspector McLaughilin.

Williamson & Co., of 25 Union square. Howard Cockshaw & Co., of Eighteenth street and Fourth avenue, and Sloan & Co., of Union square, have also been victimized in the same way.

Mendel is a Pole forty-eight years old. His first arrest was in 1857, when he was convicted of stealing a diamond collarbutton from a John street jeweller, and sent to the island on his plea of guilty to petit larceny. While on the island as warrant was sworn out by A. Much, a jeweller in Grand street. Brooklyn, charging him with the larceny of a diamond ring.

For this crime he served two years. Two months after his release he was convicted in Trenton, N. J., of stealing a gold ring and was sentenced for a year.

"Despite the great hue and cry an the thunderbolts that have been launched at the silver people, we find ourselves in good shape and our front unbroken. Of course I refer more particularly to the Senate. We have 724 good working majority for sliver for 274 good working majority for sliver for 64 some years, and in the changes that 814 have taken place we still have a masome years, and in the changes that His Idea Meets with Some Favor have taken place we still have a majority.

"The Silver law will stand unless it is replaced by another law that will maintain the double standard of this country. I know Mr. Cleveland is making great efforts to bring about the repeal of the Sherman act, and is using the lever of patronage to move some of the silver men of his party. He might nawell go to the bankers in Wall street and get the money and attempt to buy them outright as to use the Federal patronage, for there is no difference between the two so far as the morality of the act is concerned.

"I believe that the suspension of the Indian coinage was brought about by collusion, and that it was deliberately planned in order to allow Mr. Cleveland to follow with the call for the special session of Congress, and in the apparent collapse of silver secure the repeal of the Sherman bill without any compensating clause. But it failed. India has not abandoned silver and never will."

Rankin Post, G. A. R., of Brooklyn, has taken the initiative in a novel states pensioners shall hereafter be paid in silver coin from the Treasury at Washington.

This proposition was introduced at a meeting of the Post last evening, by Comrade Palen H. Sims, and it created a good deal of a stir among the veter and to follow with the call for the special session of Congress, and in the apparent collapse of silver secure the repeal of the Sherman act was a Republican measure, and as over 90 per cent. of the pensioners were Republicans, they ought to Foote, who has been entry clerk at the hospital for five years, is supposed to have contracted the disease from a patient who was taken into the receiving department last week. Reports from North Brother Island say he is doing well.

A careful investigation showed that forty-one of the attendants had come directly or indirectly, in contact with Foote, and Warden Rourke ordered tient quarantined in the old erysipelas ward, near the river.

These men, who are carpenters or clerks, had occupied the old alcoholic ward, and this has been thoroughly fumigated.

Warden Rourke, when seen by an "Evening World" reporter this morning, said:

"What's the use of buying all this sliver and storing it up in the Treasury vaults, if it is not to be put to good use some time," said one of Mr. Sims's supporters. "Here is a grand opportunity for the pensioners to come to the front and make a name for themselves as financiers, besides doing a great public benefit and showing the country and the nations of the world that sliver is good for smelting after all.

"Up to this time, to be sure, the Government has always paid its pensioners in gold coin or certificates and legal-tenders, or at least they can set that sort of money for their checks from the banks. The silver is just as good as gold, and the Government has so much of it it would no doubt like to get rid of some of it."

Several of the older veterans objected to the scheme on the ground that silver would be very hard for a good many of them to carry away because it was so heavy, and that many of the more feeble of them would have to make two or three trips to the paymaster's office before they could coilect all that was due them.

This objection was meable to go.

Relatives and friends of the family are respectfully invited to attend the funeral, on Sunday, July 9, from his late residences, 533 West 29th et., at 1 P. M. Interment in Caivary Comstery.

This objection was met by the offer of the more able-bodied veterans to furnish all the assistance that would be necessary to enable their more decrept brethren to get home with their load. The course of action to be taken on the suggestion of Mr. Sims was not device upon last night, but many expressed the view that an effort should be neaded to interest other posts and pensioners generally in the scheme, and that the Interior Department should be pensioners should hereafter be paid off in all ver coin.
